Art Unit: 1754

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kolonitsch et al or JP 11-79733 in view of Cox et al or Lindsay et al or Kobetz, for the reasons given in the last Office Action.

Claims 6-8 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kolonitsch et al or JP 11-79733 in view of Cox et al or Lindsay et al or Kobetz as applied to claims 1-5 above, and further in view of Filby and Ashby '524, for the reasons given in the last Office Action.

Applicant's argument, that there are many known reactions of aluminum alkoxides, and that the Office has not identified any motivation to choose this particular one for combination with the subject matter of the other references, is not convincing, since the motivation would be to form alum and an alcohol, as opposed to other products. There is no evidence on record of unexpected results which would emanate from the step of reacting the aluminum alkoxide formed in the processes of Kolonitsch et al and JP 11-79733 with sulfuric acid, as opposed to subjecting the aluminum alkoxide to a different reaction. Applicant's argument, that the Office has not established a prima facie case of obviousness with respect to claims 6-8, is not convincing. One of ordinary skill in the art would be motivated to produce a boric acid ester and sodium aluminum hydride, since these are required reactants for the processes of Kolonitsch et al and JP 11-79733. There is no evidence on record of unexpected results which would emanate from forming these reactants according to the processes of Filby and Ashby '524, respectively, as opposed to other processes.

Claims 9 and 10 are allowed.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
